

Rurrenabaque and Madidi National Park

Madidi National Park

The Madidi National Park is one of the largest and with the richest variety of flora and fauna in Bolivia. It spans from the Andes Royal Range to the Amazon basin, and has many and diverse habitats, from mountain forest, to lowland savannas and tropical Rainforest. Here we will see pink river dolphins, tapir, anaconda, lizards, caimans, a great variety of birds and several species of monkeys. We will ride down the Tuichi River, go for short treks into the jungle and visit the Chalalan Lagoon.

Pricing

Occupancy Type	7-Day Program
Double	$ 3114
Single	$ 5167

Prices shown above are per person, in US Dollars ($).

Chalalan Ecolodge

Rurrenabaque

Itinerary

Day 1

La Paz to Caranavi, Guanay

Private transportation from La Paz, crossing the highlands and the Royal Andes Range at the pass of "La Cumbre" at 4,650 m/15,256 ft. You will drop down to 1,150 m/3,773 ft arriving at the village of Yolosa, where various tropical plants like coffee, papaya, banana and citric fruits grow. The trip continues through Caranavi, a busy commercial center of the northern region of La Paz. Finally we reach Guanay, once an important gold mining center. (6 hours). Overnight at Basic hotel. Lunch and dinner included.

Day 2

Guanay to Rurrenabaque

Travel by boat down the Caca river, joining the Beni river. These are two of the main tributaries of the Amazon River. The landscape is impressive, where we will be able to appreciate the wildlife and nature of the region. Our last stop is Rurrenabaque (8 hours) at the banks of the river. Overnight at the Safari hotel. Breakfast, lunch and dinner included.

Day 3

Rurrenabaque to Reyes and Santa Rosa

Travel through Reyes and Santa Rosa, enter the Yacuma river with rich gallery forest and fauna. Overnight at the Caracoles Lodge. Breakfast, lunch and dinner included.

Day 4

Return to Rurrenabaque

Return to Rurrenabaque by boat and take the opportunity to spot river dolphins, monkeys, turtles, capybaras and caimans, as well as lots of birds and macaws. Overnight at Hotel Safari. Breakfast, lunch and dinner included.

Day 5

Rurrenabaque to Chalalan

Travel by boat on the Beni and Tuichi rivers to Chalalan. Walk through the forest to the lodge, lunch and rest. Afternoon to learn of Madidi National Park and the project of the community. Trek through the Chichilo and Mirador trails. After dinner, trek to see the night wildlife. Overnight at Chalalan Ecolodge. Breakfast, lunch and dinner included.

Day 6

Chalalan

Trek the Wabucuru and Marimono trails, explore the ecological processes, wildlife and visit the small ruins. Good opportunity to see wild animals, return to Chalalan After dinner and enjoy games related with biodiversity and memory, associated with Chalalan. Overnight at Chalalan Ecolodge. Breakfast, lunch and dinner included.

Day 7

Return to Rurrenabaque and end in La Paz

Early breakfast and departure, hike to the port in the Tuichi river and then travel by boat to Rurrenabaque (3 hours). Flight to La Paz with both transfers. Breakfast included.

Price includes:

Price includes return air transportation to La Paz, hotel or lodge accommodation including meals where indicated, bus and private transfers, and guided tours in English including entrance fees. Local airport taxes that are payable in the country of destination are not included. Taxes and security fees that can be paid at time of ticketing are already included in the quote (if airfare has been included in the quote).

Note: A yellow fever vaccination is required for travel to Bolivia. This must be obtained at least two weeks prior to departure and the certificate must be taken on the trip. You will not be allowed to board the flight to Bolivia or enter via the border crossing without a certificate